

Lead the dialogue. Shape the market.

Join the PCIM Executive Circle as a host.

Be a host

Your role as a host

- Kick off the roundtable with a guiding question
- Stimulate and guide the discussion
- Encourage active dialogue among participants

Your benefits as a host

- Exposure to a select and influential audience
- An opportunity to catch the attention of industry leaders
- Recognition as an expert and thought leader
- Access to feedback and fresh ideas
- A chance to expand your network and explore new partnerships
- Freedom to choose your own topic

Engage, exchange, and share in confidence

- The event kicks off with an inspiring keynote, followed by a roundtable session.
The PCIM provides the framework, while participants actively drive the discussion.
- The flexible, open format enables dialogue to develop organically.

Off-the-record rules

- The event is held under the Chatham House Rule and there is no verbatim documentation.
- Insights are shared, while identities remain confidential.
- The focus is on open dialogue and practical takeaways.

How the PCIM Executive Circle works

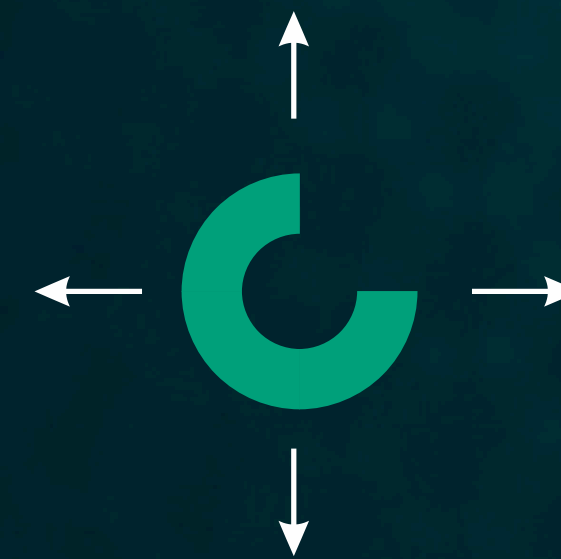

01 Choose your conversation

Several roundtables* take place in parallel, each focused on a different strategic topic. Participants choose the conversation most relevant to them.

02 Change perspectives

After a set period, participants move to another roundtable – creating the opportunity to explore different topics and connect with new people. One-to-one conversations are also possible for a more focused exchange.

03 Connect beyond the table

Breaks and dedicated networking time provide space for personal conversations, new connections and meaningful dialogue beyond the roundtables.